

Executive Chef Adrian W. O'Herlihy (right) from the Amari Rincome Hotel really showed off his 'American skills' on Independence Day (4th of July). Nothing was missing of a typical Independence Day Lunch. He and his employees proved once again that the skill of a chef does not end in the kitchen. The always present Adrian was seen cutting turkey, turning hamburgers on the BBQ, chatting with guests and he even found time to pose for a picture with his staff.
